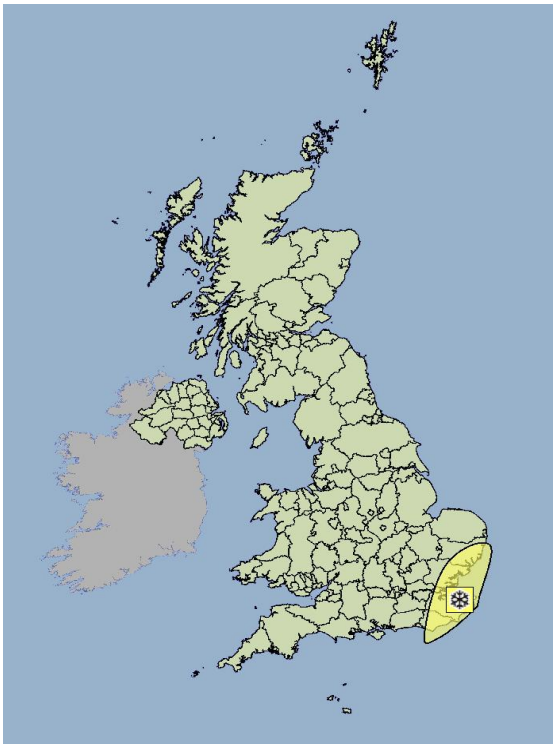
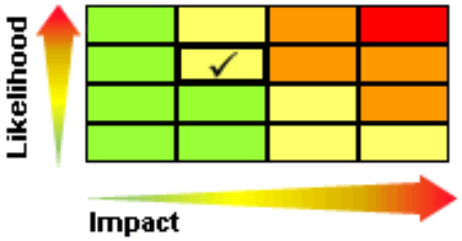
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An organised area of sleet and snow is feeding into parts of southeast England and East Anglia. This is likely to continue for much of the morning though this will increasingly turn to rain. Some small accumulations are possible across the warning area however many parts will see little or no cover, and and where it does settle it is likely to melt through Saturday.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 05:40 on Sat, 11th Feb 2017 until 19:00 on Sat, 11th Feb 2017

Outbreaks of snow could bring local accumulations of 2-3 cm. Some disruption to transport is possible as well as slippery conditions on roads and pavements.

This is an update to extend the area into Essex and Suffolk.
